Trading Strategy: Fundamental / Grains & Oilseeds

Program Description: Opus trades futures on a wide range of markets, including agriculture, finance, energy, and others. The program's primary focus is in agricultural commodities, and specifically grains and oilseeds. Mr. Zelinski has gained a thorough knowledge of these markets while working with Nesvick Trading Group as the primary research analyst for grain and oilseed markets. Mr. Zelinski has traveled around the country to study crop development, as well as to gain a knowledge of US cash grain and oilseed markets. Mr. Zelinski's fundamental analysis also includes forecasting US and world supply and demand tables, monitoring of US and world weather, studying domestic and international freight values, and tracking underlying cash values associated with agricultural futures markets.
